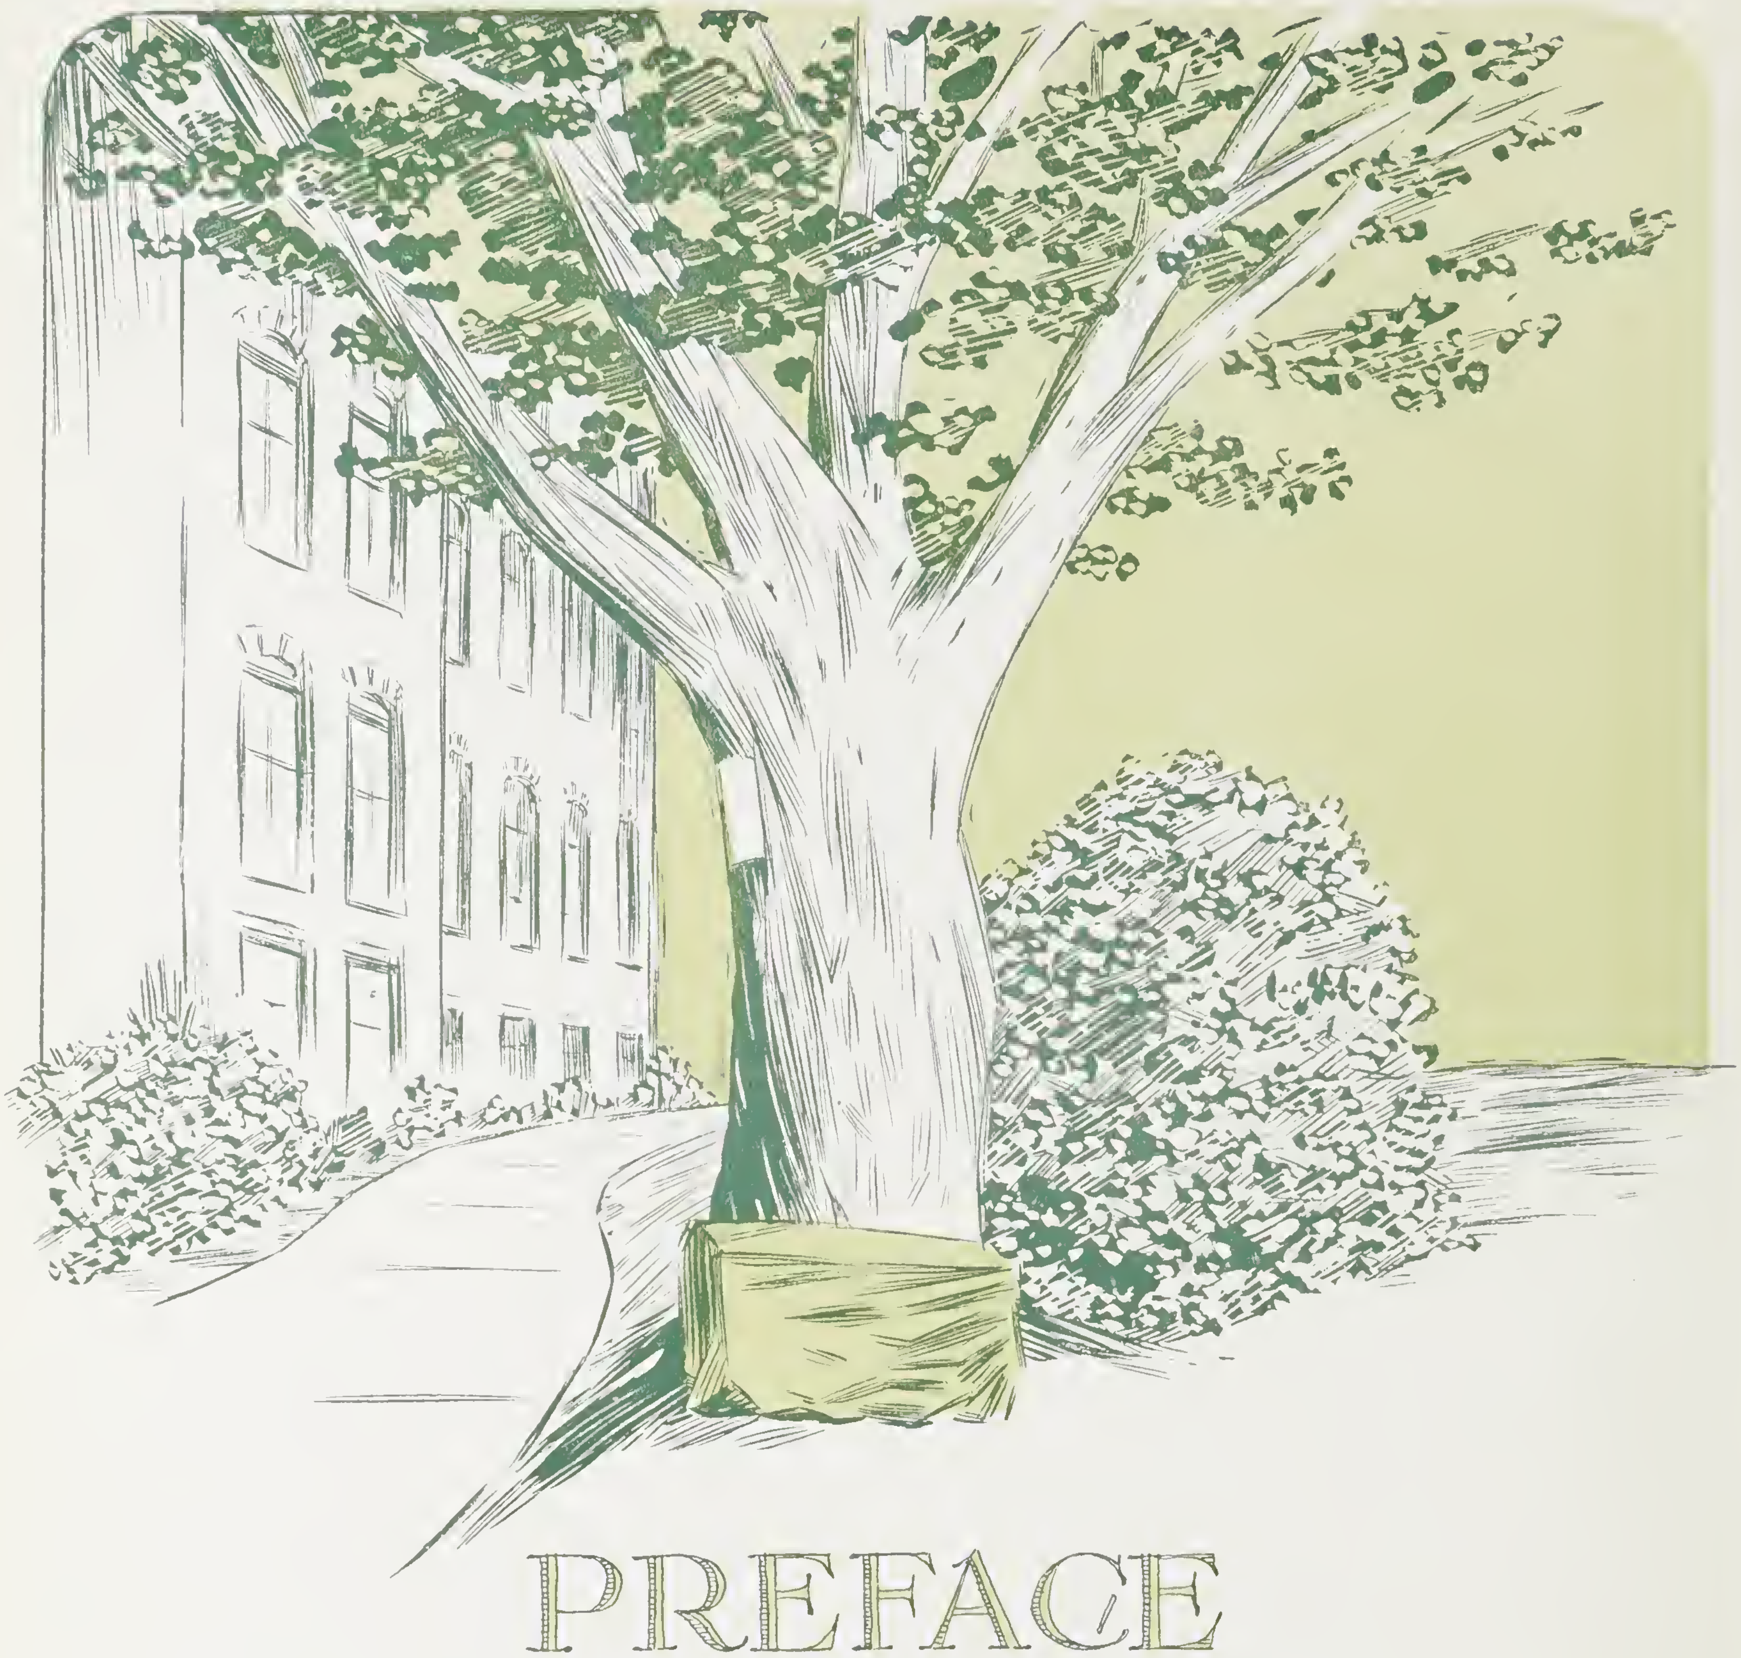
WE DEDICATE

this, our 1930 Narva, to Mrs. F. W. Hawley, who, because of her deep interest in all college activities and in the life about her, is truly the "First Lady of the Campus."

MRS. F. W. HAWLEY

To Mrs. Hawley is due much of the credit for the artistic appearance of our surroundings. During her fifteen years at Park, she has worked untiringly to improve the attractiveness of the Park College campus, ever emphasizing the natural beauty of its location.



PREFACE

In 1875, when Colonel George S. Park selected the site for Park College, he must have been greatly impressed with the beauty of the natural setting here among the hills overlooking the Missouri River. Although the college has changed greatly in a material sense during its fifty-five years of existence, this rugged panorama still frames the campus.

It is this spirit of native rusticity which the staff of the 1930 Narva has endeavored to reproduce, and to use as the creative theme about which to build another memory book. By means of photographs, sketches, and words, the staff has attempted to portray another year of life at Park College in all of its activities.

ADMINISTRATION

Walter Frederick Sanders, A.B., A.M.
Dean, Park College

Mrs. Ruth Herdman Schall, A.B.
Dean of Women, Park College

Dean Walter F. Sanders has served as Dean of Park College since 1920, succeeding Dean R. A. Wells. This year, however, Dean Sanders received a fellowship, granted jointly by Ohio State University and the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church, to do graduate work at Ohio State University. His research problem has included an educational survey of all of the Presbyterian colleges in the United States.

During his absence Professor R. A. Wells has had charge of the educational policy of the college, and has given a portion of each day's schedule to the office of acting dean. A committee composed of Dr. F. H. Hawley, Dr. A. L. Wolfe, Dr. R. A. Rogers, Professor R. V. Magers, Professor J. W. Teener and Professor J. W. Voorhis was organized for the handling of problems other than those of an educational nature. Miss Alice B. Wimmell, a graduate of Park College, has had charge of most of the office routine during the past year.

Mrs. Ruth H. Schall, Dean of Women of Park College, has served in this capacity since 1920. Mrs. Schall has charge of all of the policies regarding the young women of the college.

ENGLISH AND PUBLIC SPEAKING

Ethel E. Lyon

Dr. F. W. Beers

The English Department of Park College, as a separate unit in the college curriculum, was organized in 1892 by Professor Henry S. Verrill. Professor Ethel E. Lyon succeeded Professor J. H. Lawrence as head of the department in 1922. The work of the department includes the sponsoring of the college program in journalism and dramatics.

Previous to 1923 the courses in Public Speaking were offered in connection with the English courses. At that time, however, the two departments became distinct divisions. Dr. F. W. Beers is the present head of the Public Speaking Department. The yearly program of college oratory and debate is under the supervision of this department.

MEMBERSHIP OF DEPARTMENT

Ethel E. Lyon, A.M., Columbia University	Head of English Department
Mary E. Maupin, A.M., Columbia University	Associate Professor of English
Virginia Lee Cole, A.M., Univ. of Missouri	Instructor in English and Journalism
Forrest W. Beers, Ph.D., Ruskin Univ.	Head of Public Speaking Department
Forrest H. Rose, A.B., Ohio Wesleyan	Associate Professor of Public Speaking

Maupin, Cole, Rose.

MODERN LANGUAGES

Miriam E. Wilson

As early as 1896, a course in German was included in the list of courses offered by Park College, but it was not until 1916 that Dean W. F. Sanders definitely organized and developed the department until comprehensive courses were offered in German, French and Spanish.

The program of the department includes the sponsoring of "Le Cercle Francais," "El Club Cervantes," and a newly organized German club, as well as a public presentation of one-act plays in French, German and Spanish, one evening during the school year. The purpose of each foreign-language club is to provide practice in speaking the language, as well as making its members more familiar with the customs, literature and music of its particular country.

Four of the eleven seniors doing Honors Work this year are working in the department of Modern Languages.

CLASSICS AND ART

Dr. A. L. Wolfe

Dr. Arthur L. Wolfe, present head of the Latin and Greek department, first began to teach the Classics at Park College in 1889. In 1898 he was named as head of the department of Latin, and when the Greek and Latin departments were combined, he had charge of both.

The art division of the department was added in 1926. Although technical courses are offered in designing and drawing, the chief stress is laid on the appreciation of art as represented in painting, sculpture and architecture. This is encouraged by a valuable art collection granted Park College by the Carnegie Corporation. This collection consists of 1,800 reproductions, fifty original prints, a set of textiles in thirty-five pieces, and two hundred bcoks on the art of every period and people.

MATHEMATICS AND ASTRONOMY

R. A. Wells

In 1875, when Park College was founded, courses in mathematics comprised one of the two divisions of instruction. From that time instruction in this particular field has played an important part, until now it is one of the largest and strongest departments in the college curriculum.

The courses of instruction were first organized into a distinct division in 1891 by Professor A. M. Mattoon, who for twenty years served as head of the department.

Work in the department of astronomy is greatly facilitated by the Charles Smith Scott Astronomical Observatory, which was erected and equipped in 1898 by the late Anthony Dey of New York. Professor R. A. Wells is the present head of the department of Mathematics and Astronomy.

BIBLE

J. W. Teener

The work in the George S. Park Department of Bible and Christian Training is organized to meet the needs of students who are preparing themselves, either for theological schools, or for professional work in the field of religious education.

The department is named in honor of Colonel George S. Park, the founder of Park College. It was his desire to offer "an education, with the Bible as the leading textbook," to worthy students. This idea has predominated the entire history of the school, and at the present time eight hours of instruction in Bible is one of the requirements for graduation.

Professor S. L. McAfee was the first instructor in Bible at Park College. Professor J. W. Teener is the present head of the department.

HISTORY AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

Roy V. Magers

Homer L. Williams

Named in honor of the wife of the founder of Park College, the Mrs. George S. Park Department of History has developed from two courses offered in 1891 until at the present time as many as eleven different courses in the field of history are available for students each semester. The Roy V. Magers History Club is an outgrowth of this department, and is named in honor of the present head of the department. Professor Magers has held the chair since 1912.

The first social science course to be offered at Park College was a course in Political Economics in 1898. At the present time there are nine courses offered in the fields of sociology and economics. Professor Homer L. Williams is the present head of the department.

EDUCATION AND PSYCHOLOGY

Mary R. Harrison

Matthew H. Wilson

Inasmuch as so many Park graduates enter the teaching profession, the Department of Education is one of the most important in the college curriculum. The education division is approved by the Department of Education of the State of Missouri, and high school certificates are awarded to graduates who have completed the required courses in the department. Miss Mary R. Harrison is the present head of the Education Department.

In 1916 the Departments of Education, Psychology and Philosophy were made into separate divisions. The Department of Psychology, under the supervision of Professor Matthew H. Wilson, concerns itself with the scientific study of human life.

Charles D. Flory, A.M., University of Chicago . . .	Instructor in Education
Matthew H. Wilson, A.M., University of Kansas .	Head of Psychology Department

Harrison, Flory, Wilson.

BIOLOGY AND PHYSICS

Dr. M. C. Findlay

The Department of Natural Science was organized by Dr. M. C. Findlay in 1892. At that time classes were held in the basement of Mackay with a very meager amount of equipment. With the erection of the Wakefield Science Hall in 1925, the facilities for teaching the different sciences were greatly increased. The courses in the Biology Department are planned to meet the needs of those students who are going to enter medical schools, or who are planning to teach Biology in high schools.

Dr. R. A. Rogers

It is the purpose of the Physics Department to present material in such a manner that the students may realize the connection between certain fundamental principles and the experiences of daily life. It further trains the student in the methods of physical reasoning and in the development of logical thought processes.

MEMBERSHIP

Merlin C. Findlay, A.M., Hamilton College	Head of Department of Biology

Findlay, Metz, Rogers.

CHEMISTRY AND HOME ECONOMICS

Dr. P. Y. Jackson

Margaret E. Lorimer

In 1908 the Departments of Chemistry and Physics were divided into separate units, with Professor Howard A. Dean as head of the former division. He held the chair until 1928, when he resigned. Dr. P. Y. Jackson succeeded Professor Dean as head of the department. The courses of the department are planned to meet the needs of those who are going to teach or do graduate work in the field of Chemistry.

The Home Economics Department, under the supervision of Professor Margaret E. Lorimer, has been located in Alumni Hall since 1927. Such courses as "Selection and Preparation of Foods," "Home Management," "Dietetics," and "Clothing and Dress Design," are planned to meet the needs of students who expect to follow the professions of teaching and home-making.

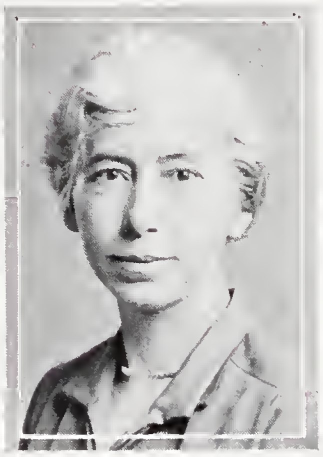
LIBRARY SCIENCE AND BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION



Alice M. Waldron

David M. Knight

The Carnegie Library, made possible by a substantial gift from the Carnegie Corporation, and containing over 35,000 volumes, offers ample opportunity for laboratory courses in the field of library science. Courses in reference work and library technique are offered for those students who are looking toward librarianship as a profession. Miss Alice M. Waldron has served as head librarian and instructor in library science since 1925.

The Business Administration Department was organized in 1921 by Professor D. M. Knight. This field includes the technique of accounting and business procedure, the analyses and interpretation of financial statements, a study of investments and insurance, together with an understanding of law, governing rights, organization and business transactions.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

P. K. Justus

T. L. Goodwin

The Department of Labor is an essential part of the original plan of Park College with its purpose of combining physical and mental labor in order to extend the privilege of a college education to worthy students.

Each student living on the campus does fifteen hours of family work each week. The college men and women engage in such manual labor as farming, horticulture, printing, carpentering, firing, cooking, sewing, library, dining-hall, office, house, electrical and laundry work.

Mr. T. L. Goodwin succeeded Mr. P. K. Justus as general work superintendent last fall. Mr. Justus now has charge of the agricultural interests of the college.

MEMBERSHIP OF DEPARTMENT

P. K. Justus, S.B., University of Illinois	Superintendent of Agriculture
Thomas L. Goodwin	General Work Superintendent
Forrest W. Beers, Ph.D., Ruskin University	Superintendent of Printing

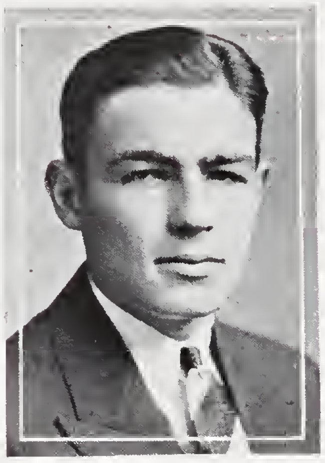
CLASSES

SENIORS

SENIORS



John Blakely

Senior privileges, Colonial party, class play, Junior-Senior banquet, examinations, and commencement—these are a few of the events towards which everyone looks forward as the conclusion of his college career draws near. The annual Colonial party given on February 21 by the Administration, in honor of the members of the senior class, was an unusually gay and colorful event. Games based on revolutionary history and traditions, music, motion pictures of campus life, and refreshments, as well as the Colonial costumes of the faculty, made the party a long-remembered success.

Nor are the activities of the senior class limited to social functions. The men's basketball team, captained by John Blakely, successfully trounced their rivals in the inter-class basketball tournament held during November.

As the Narva goes to press, the seniors are making preliminary plans for their class play to be given during commencement week.

JUNIORS

William Young

By winning the inter-class baseball tournament, the junior class set out early in the year to assume a definite place in school activities. They gave further proof of their athletic ability by placing second in the inter-class basketball tournament.

The juniors made their dramatic debut on the evening of November 26, when they very successfully presented "Icebound" by Owen Davis, under the direction of George McEwen. The cast was composed of Augusta Kimpton, Ralph Blackman, Doris Baker, Kathryn Houghton, Howard Peck, Anna Belle Peterson, Bernice Green, Jessie Craig, Grace Long, George Woolley and Richard Parkhurst.

The annual Junior-Senior Banquet, given each year in honor of the members of the graduating class, was sponsored by the juniors early in May. The committee directly responsible for the success of the banquet consisted of Lynette Strode, Frances DeHart, Martha Mahaffy, George McEwen and Ralph Blackman.

SOPHOMORES

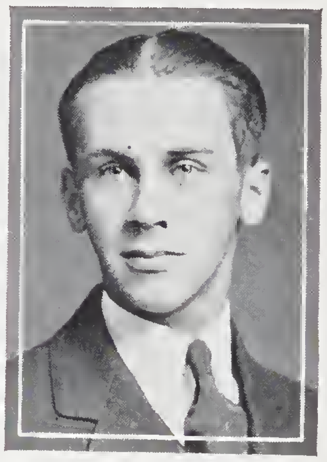
Harold Hill



Irvine Walker

Upon the members of the sophomore class annually falls the responsibility of caring for the welfare of the incoming freshmen. This year the men's enforcement committee under the direction of Vincent Hrvat, and the corresponding women's committee with Constance Shupe as its head, directed the initiatory activities at the beginning of the year. Although the freshman-sophomore tie-up contest ended in a draw, the brawny sophomores succeeded in outpulling the frosh in the tug-of-war.

The sophomore class further added to its laurels by winning the inter-class play contest sponsored by Theta Alpha Phi. "Judge Lynch," under the direction of Dale Bartlett, was exceptionally well presented by a capable cast including Alice Boorem, Alice Pitts, Harold Hill and Theron Ashby.

George Riggs

The night of October 4, better known as Freshman Humiliation Night, was a red-letter event in the history of the freshman class. It was then that all of the frosh, accompanied by an upper class date, assembled at McCormick Chapel to hear the verdict of the Kangaroo and Dog Kourts. And great were the penalties inflicted for violation of the freshman rules!

In the freshman-sophomore scrap, the frosh succeeded in equalling the sophomores in the "tie-up," but were forced to admit their rival's superiority in the tug-of-war.

The freshmen gave evidence of quite a degree of dramatic ability by taking second place in the inter-class play contest sponsored by Theta Alpha Phi. Their play, "Submerged," under the direction of Lowell Ditzen, and played by Francis Vanice, John Schofield, Edwin Withington, Malcolm Magers, Harper Simms, and Kay Harris, was exceptionally well produced.

ACTIVITIES

FORENSICS

ORATORY

Dr. F. W. Beers

To the query, "Whither America?", Arthur Todd gave an optimistic and encouraging answer in the oration which merited for him first place in the annual Harry S. Jewett contest. The winner of this is entitled to represent Park in the State Old Line Contest, which is held in the spring.

Todd's oration was earnest and effective. He discussed the tendencies of modern America and the reactions of modern youth. The Stylus quotes him: "Out of the brain of man and the need of civilization there sprang into existence the triumph of science and invention, the machine. As a result, American life has changed——. There still exists a true, living American culture. True Americans do not want shallow sex stories their literature, jazz their music, and funny papers their art. We must harness modern science to increase our refinement and raise our ideals."

Four other orators entered the competition. These were William Young, speaking on "Society and the Payroll," who was awarded second place; George DeHaven, "Gangland Strikes Again," winner of third place; Antonio Ramirez, "The Torchbearer"; and Cyril Mesley, telling of the great quest of life. The five orations were all on phases of modern life and as such were interesting to the group of youth which formed the audience.

To the coaching of Dr. F. W. Beers is due much of the credit for the forceful, yet fluent, delivery of these orations.

DeHaven, Young, Todd, Ramirez.

ORATORY

WILLIAM YOUNG

"Unemployment, if continued, will strike directly at the foundations of our government," declared William Young, denouncing what he decried as a menace to our national safety, in his oration "Society and the Payroll." Championing the cause of the unemployed, Young won the right to represent Park College in the national oratorical contest held at Evanston, Illinois, April 25, by placing first in the state and divisional contests at Fayette, Mo., and Ripon, Wisconsin. Awarded second place in the local Old Line contest last fall, the orator became the official representative of the college through the loss of eligibility by Arthur Todd. The winning of both occasions was the signal for great rejoicing among the student body. Night festivities and a rousing welcome to both Young and Dr. F. W. Beers, who coached the speaker, were a part of the celebration of victory.

Miss Enid Cole, challenging youth to venture toward the building of a better society, in an oration entitled "Breaking Patterns," took third place in the finals of the oratorical contest at the Pi Kappa Delta convention at Wichita, Kansas. Competing in men's oratory at the convention, Webb L. Witmer was eliminated in the third round after meeting orators from twenty-one schools and colleges. He spoke on the subject "The Last Frontier."

To Doctor Forrest W. Beers, who has trained Park's orators, is due much of the credit for the success of the college's representatives. Dr. Beers has held the position of coach in oratory for a number of years and has coached several Park students to national precedence.

We Help to Celebrate "Bill's" Victory.

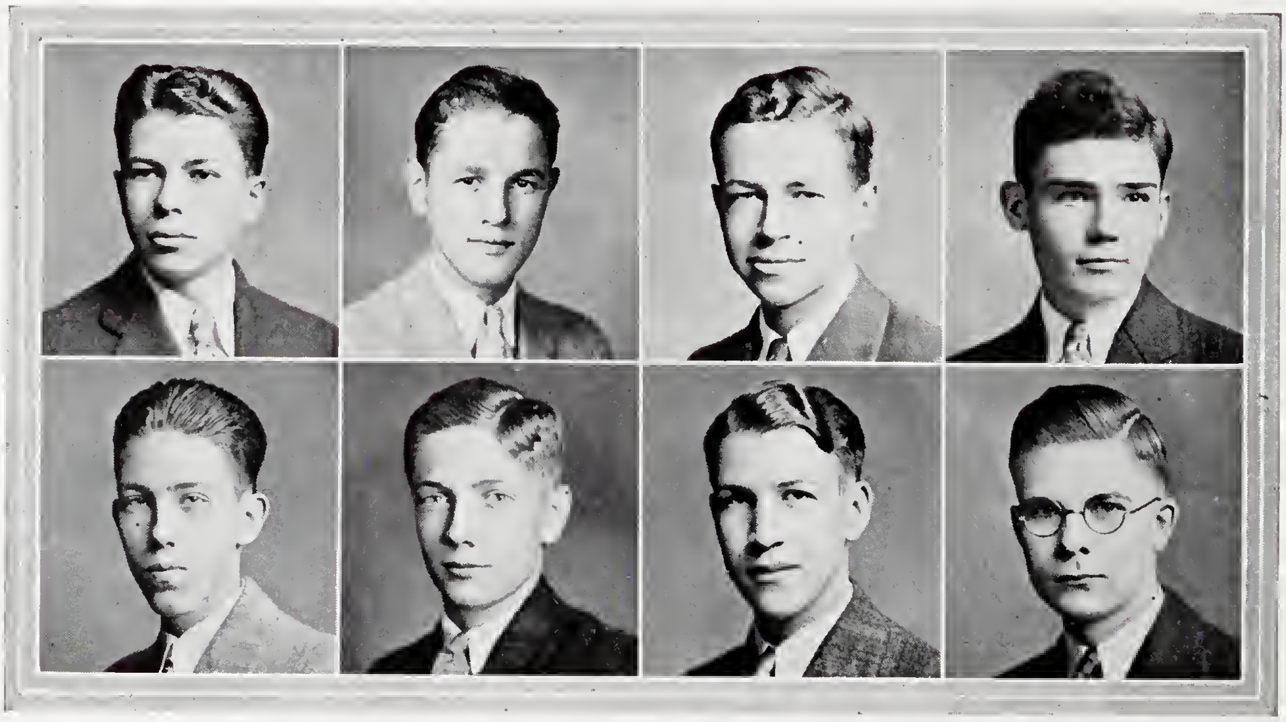
MEN'S DEBATE

Twenty-two debates made up Park's schedule for 1930. A squad of eight men, teaming in various manners, defended Park in the series. Ten of these were non-decision debates, while the others were judged, usually by three judges agreed upon by the coaches of the competing teams. Under the direction of Professor Forrest H. Rose, coach, Park men were victorious in seven of the twelve decision debates in which they participated.

The first debates of the year were a part of the Tri-State Debate Tournament held at Southwestern College, Winfield, Kansas. Albert Tener and William Young composed the team which represented Park in this tournament. Debating in six of the seven rounds (a bye was drawn for one round), the team was defeated only by Phillips University, Enid, Oklahoma. This entitled them to a silver loving cup indicative of second honors. The tournament included forty men's teams from various colleges in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. The question was the national Pi Kappa Delta topic, Resolved; that the nations should adopt a plan of complete disarmament, excepting such forces as are necessary for police purposes.

Non-decision debates were held with Central Wesleyan, Maryville Teachers, Emporia Teachers, McKendree, Central and Abilene Christian colleges. Most of these were upon the Pi Kappa Delta question.

Theron Ashby and Albert Tener represented Park in the Pi Kappa Delta convention. They remained in the competition for five rounds, meeting Huron College, South Dakota, Southwestern University of Texas, Centenary College, Montana State, and Yankton College, South Dakota.



Ashby, Bouquet, Calfee, Dillard.
Magers, Riggs, Tener, Young.

MEN'S DEBATE

All of the eight men on the debate squad are members of the three lower classes and as such will probably debate again in the future for Park. William Young, a junior, has served three years and this year completes the requirements for a diamond jewel in his Pi Kappa Delta Key. Albert Tener and Theron Ashby, sophomores, have completed all requirements for that honor except that of participation in debate for three years.

Several of the less experienced debaters were asked to join the fraternity at the close of this season. The squad included four men who had had no previous experience in college debate. These were George Riggs and Malcolm Magers, freshmen, and John Bouquet and John Calfee, sophomores. Reece Dillard, a second year man, completes the eight.

Besides the debates of the Tri-State Contest and the Pi Kappa Delta Convention, which numbered eleven, Park men met Cape Girardeau in a three-man decision debate. Upholding the negative, Park was unable to gain the decision. The season closed with a record of seven debates won, five lost, and eleven non-decision contests.

Most of the debates were on the national Pi Kappa Delta question of disarmament. The squad members were trained to good argument for either the negative or affirmative viewpoint. Much credit is due to Professor Forrest H. Rose, who has coached the team for three years.

The Squad at Work.

WOMEN'S DEBATE

The 1930 schedule for women debaters included fourteen debates. Of these, four received the decision, five were lost, three were non-decision and two were extemporaneous non-decision. The squad was made up of eight members, two of whom are seniors, one a junior, three sophomores, and two freshmen.

Most of the debates were on the national Pi Kappa Delta question, Resolved; that the nations should adopt a plan of complete disarmament, excepting such forces as are necessary for police purposes. Both the negative and the affirmative sides were upheld during the season.

Lillian Scheib and Wilma Evans were Park's representatives in the women's division of the Pi Kappa Delta convention. They were enabled to remain in the running until the fifth round of the contests, meeting Simmons College, Colorado State Teachers College, the University of Southern California, the Oklahoma Baptist College, and the Baylor College for Women, at Waco, Texas. Other schools met during the season were Sterling College, Bethany College, Maryville Teachers College, Friends College, Kansas State Agricultural College, Ottawa University, Pittsburg Teachers College, and Central College.

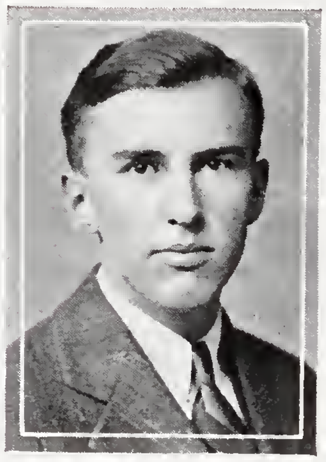
This year Miss Evans completed her requirements for the honor of wearing a diamond in her Pi Kappa Delta key. She is the first woman debater to receive that honor from the Park College chapter.

The other women on the squad are Doris Eager, Evelyn Pierce, Elizabeth Broadbent, Enid Cole, Edna Oakley and Elizabeth Keiser. With the exception of the latter two, all have taken part in decision debates and are either members, or eligible for membership, in Pi Kappa Delta.

Broadbent, Cole, Eager, Evans.
Keiser, Oakley, Pierce, Scheib.

PUBLICATIONS

THE 1930 NARVA



Ralph Blackman

In 1901 the first Narva made its appearance at Park College under the auspices of the senior class. Since that time it has developed from a tiny, paper-bound book into the 1930 Narva, the second successful attempt to publish a book on an annual basis.

The 1930 Narva has been created around a theme which the members of the staff feel to be particularly appropriate for Park College. Visitors to the campus are always impressed by the picturesqueness of its location here among the hills overlooking the Missouri River. It was this spirit of native rusticity which the artists have attempted to portray by means of sketches and photographs. The book opens with a panoramic view of the campus, followed by sketches and views of native scenes. Each sketch has been prepared from an actual photograph of the scene which it represents.

In this volume we have endeavored to picture the activities and events of the past year at Park. It has been intensely interesting to watch the pages of the 1930 Narva develop from a few roughly penciled plans into finished records of Park life. If it meets the approbation of the student body, the faculty, and the friends of Park, we, the members of the staff, are content after our year's labor.

McEwen, Lord, Parry, Raab.
Peterson, Vanice, Lock, Reed.

THE 1930 NARVA

Max Weinberg

The editor-in-chief and business manager of the 1930 Narva were elected by the members of the student body. The remainder of the staff was selected upon the basis of competitive try-outs. Miss Virginia Lee Cole, of the English Department, is the faculty advisor for the yearbook.

The Narva staff wishes to take the opportunity of expressing its appreciation to Juanita Ratliff, Clara Newcomb, Margaret Jones, Dorothy Hughes, Theron Ashby and Clifford Backstrom for the aid which they have given during the sales season and at different rush periods throughout the year.

WILLIAM YOUNG

The Park Stylus, "Official Organ of the Student Body of Park College," is a weekly publication edited and managed by members of that group with assistance from the journalism class taught by Miss Virginia L. Cole. The editor and business manager are elected from the entire body and they then select the rest of the staff on a competitive try-out basis. The two major offices were held for the first semester by Donald Feerer and Francis Edwards. William Young succeeded Mr. Feerer in the editorship for the second semester.

About one thousand copies are published weekly by the Park College Press under the supervision of Dr. F. W. Beers. The paper is financed through its advertising and appropriation from the student enterprise fund. The Stylus is included on the student enterprise ticket and has a wide circulation off the campus.

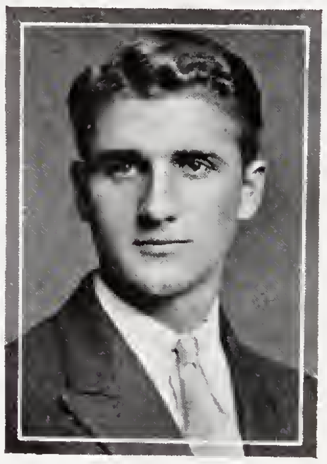
MUSIC and DRAMA

PARK-LAWRENCE BAND



LYALL SMITH

Organized in 1902 through the good will of Mrs. G. A. Lawrence, the Park-Lawrence band of twenty-four musicians has become an enjoyable part of the college life. Claude O. Rader has the supervision of the band and Lyall Smith holds the assisant directorship. The program for this year has included several home concerts and chapel programs and some visits to Kansas City and to neighboring schools.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

Roy V. Magers

An organization which has done much to make Park College well known outside its own immediate sphere, the Men's Glee Club of twenty members was started in 1865 by Dr. J. E. McAfee. Since 1904, the direction has been in the hands of Professor Roy V. Magers, who has helped to give the club a definite place in Park's annual program.

Concerts have been given in neighboring states and by radio, as well as locally. George DeHaven, reader, and William Young, magician, were featured in the concert programs. Dale Bartlett was student director; Clifford Backstrom, business manager, and Miss Rhoda Magers, accompanist.

PAULINE HAWLEY TRIANON ENSEMBLE

Irvine Walker

This year has brought to the college a new musical organization, the Pauline Hawley Trianon Ensemble. This string trio, under the direction of Irvine Walker, has furnished music for many of the college functions, including church services, chapel programs, picture shows, meetings of departmental clubs and literary societies, and local concerts.

The trio was organized to meet the much felt need of having a small orchestra which could play at occasions where a larger organization would be unwieldy. Their repertoire has included both popular and classical music and they have been much in demand.

Since the organization of the trio in October they have played in Kansas City on several occasions and have broadcasted by radio. They chose their name in recognition of Mrs. F. W. Hawley, our first lady.

PICKLES

"Betty" and Dale

Tourists and gypsies reveled at carnival time in old Vienna when "Pickles," the Y. W. and Y. M. operetta, revealed the story of a "Would-not-be" gypsy girl and her friends.

Though the lonely gypsy, Ilona, charmingly portrayed by Elizabeth Johnson, finds her mother, a wealthy Englishwoman, played by Norma Parry, despite the efforts of the gypsy king, Harold Hoeglund, she confesses that she just "Can't Get Along Without Jimmy" (Dale Bartlett), expert pickle advertiser—and lovemaker—who "held it" until he got what he wanted.

Minor romantic themes were carried by Donald Stafford, who, as the pickle prince, Jonas Pennington, would brave even stone walls for the "Dreamy, Schemey Widow," and by Catherine Leach, his daughter, who was reunited with her artist lover, Lyall Smith. Comedy was furnished by the amour-propre of William Finley, chief of detectives, with the languishing waitress (Anna Belle Peterson), employed by the proprietor (John Slaymaker) of the Wurtzelpraetzer Inn. The antics of Harry Cook and Ernest Esch, Finley's henchman, were refreshingly foolish.

Efficient choruses and orchestra made the operetta's ensembles attractive. Especial recognition is due the capable work of Ruth Snyder, director, and Jean Faurot, musical director. Much of the production's success may be laid to the valuable assistance of Mrs. C. D. Flory, faculty advisor. George Sweet and Norman Purviance added to the work with pleasing stage settings and lighting effects.

Slaymaker, Peterson, Finley, Leach, Smith, Johnson, Bartlett, Stafford, Parry, Cook, Hoeglund, Esch.

ICEBOUND

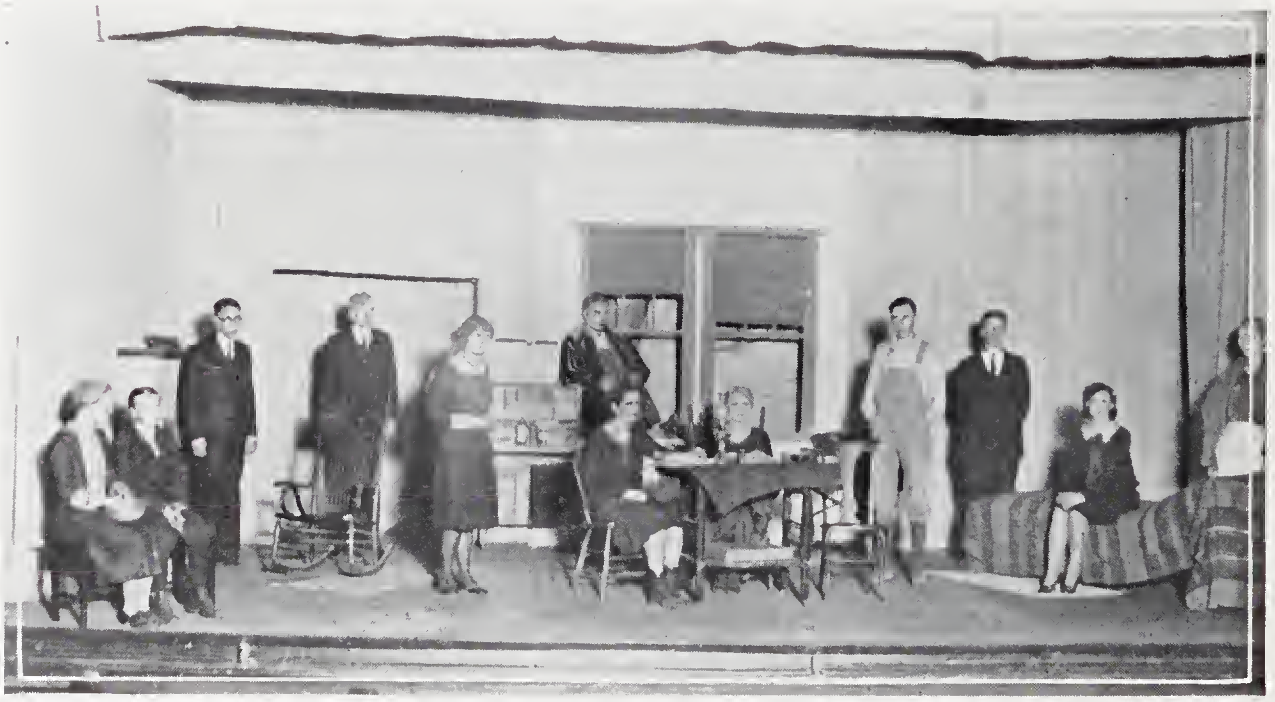
Augusta, as Jane

Showing a characteristic problem of the typical New England family of the old type, the Junior Class presented the play "Icebound" by Owen Davis, the first play given on the campus this year.

The cast included the members of the Jordan family, played by Doris Baker, Anna Belle Peterson, Kathryn Houghton, Bernice Green, Jessie Craig, Howard Peck and Ralph Blackman; their servants, Augusta Kimpton and Grace Long; and some of their associates, George Woolley, Max Coleman and Richard Parkhurst.

The play opens with the Jordan family assembled, waiting the death of the mother. All are rebellious when the estate is left to Jane, a servant. Augusta's portrayal of the quiet but strong character was excellent, while Ralph's interpretation of Ben, the scapegrace son, afforded a valuable contrast. Ben's re-creation is the main theme of the drama. Jessie Craig as Orin, the youth of the ever-running nose, and Grace Long as Hannah, an old servant, added moments of appreciable humor.

Credit should be given to George McEwen as director of the production. It was a well-tempered performance given by a group which was gracefully cast. Business and stage management were under the direction of Max Weinberg and Richard Parkhurst.



Green, Craig, Coleman, Woolley, Kimpton, Parkhurst, Baker, Houghton, Blackman, Peck, Peterson, Long.

CLASS PLAYS

Harold as "Ed" Joplin

Following the annual custom, Theta Alpha Phi sponsored this year an inter-class one-act play contest. "Judge Lynch," presented by the sophomore class, was awarded first place. The freshman play, "Submerged," ranked second, while "Ile," produced by the juniors, and "For All Time," the senior entry, were judged to be of equal merit. The entire group of plays was tragic in nature.

"Judge Lynch" was directed by Dale Bartlett. It was an exceptionally well-balanced production, showing an excellent finish in its entirety. The cast, all of whom gave good interpretations, were Alice Boorem, Alice Pitts, Harold Hill and Theron Ashby. The mechanics of production were well taken care of by Louise Wilson, Harry Turner, Frank Prather and Robert McKee. The play deals with the intuitive fear of the negro, which is found in the people of the South.

There were several fine characterizations given by the players of the other presentations. Notable among these were the interpretations of Francis Vanice and John Schofield in "Submerged." In the junior and senior plays, relatively small parts were made outstanding by the work of Max Coleman and Mary Elizabeth Gloeckner. Each of the plays held fine elements of stage production, and it is evident that the contest is a valuable asset to the dramatic program of the college.

The judging was done by members of Theta Alpha Phi on the basis of choice of play, casting, stage setting and lighting, make-up, interpretation of roles and artistic finish.

Improvement of playing conditions and additions to the sport equipment has been one of the major tasks of the Men's Athletic Association during the past year. Although handicapped by a small budget, the organization sponsored the rebuilding of the college track and baseball field and also the building of a new tennis court. One other improvement was the hiring of an outside referee for the inter-club basketball series.

It is this group, under the direction of Prof. L. A. Robbins, which is the mainstay of sports at Park College. Each member of the organization is responsible for one sport and organizes and supervises the competition.

Two members of the organization resigned during the year, George Young, member elected by the student body, and Harry Edwards, Webster member.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Broadbent, Burkwall, Burns.
Gorsuch, Harding, Smith, Worrel.

Handicapped by a lack of interest in women's competitive athletics, the Women's Athletic Association has attempted to outline a program of activities which should fulfill the need of physical development among the women. However, the only competitive feature of the program this year was girls' basketball. Hiking has also been one of the principal activities of the women.

Partly owing to the influence of the association, classes in physical education for women were started this spring with Miss Ora Gates, advisor of the association, as director. These classes were also recommended by the education department as a means of meeting the state teaching requirements.

The association is open to all the women of the college. Officers are elected, however, to transact business, and sport managers are appointed.

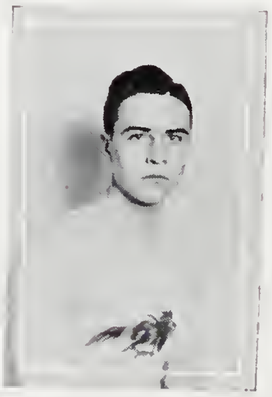
CLUB BASKETBALL

Except in scorebook statistics, the three club teams, which entered the club basketball series this winter, were as evenly matched at the end of the extra-round series as they were at the beginning. The series itself was a tie. After all play was over, however, and the editorial mathematicians began to figure, the Lowells were found to have secured a slight advantage.

The series was like one of those fabled ones in which each team battles nobly but vainly until the final game; then the hero makes his bow and the series is won. This series, however, had no hero and ended as it began—a tie.

During the entire tournament, which lasted three rounds, the games ended in the same manner. The Parchevards consistently whipped the Lowells, the Lowells consistently won from the Websters, and the Websters, in turn, never failed to defeat the Parchies.

No matter how desperately each of the teams fought, none of them could defeat both the opposing team and the season jinx.



Kenneth Lentz

CLUB BASKETBALL

Any analysis of this unusual series, according to the opinion of many, is the work of a psychological expert rather than that of a sport critic.

Statistics revealed at the close of the season that the Lowells had scored the greatest number of points and had the least number scored against them of any of the teams. The points made were: Lowell, 101; Parchevard, 99; Webster, 98. The points scored by opponents were: Against Lowell, 91; against Parchevard, 94; against Webster, 113. The Lowells also led in the matter of free throws, making 21 out of a possible 47. The Parchies made 19 out of 48 chances, and the Websters made 23 out of a possible 74 chances. However, the Webster team fouled less than the other two teams, making only 34 fouls. The Lowells were second low with 46 fouls, while the Parchies were highest with 50 fouls.

Shortly after the season drew to a close, the three clubs elected captains for next year. They are: Harold Murphy, Parchevard, Donald Feerer, Webster; and Richard Parkhurst, Lowell.

CLUB BASEBALL

A Lowell team, headed by Maurice Jones, pitched itself to an inter-club title last spring, closing the season with only one defeat and six victories to its credit.

Kelly Adams, John Blinn and Chong Sup Kong were the twirlers who were largely responsible for the championship. However, none of these men are back with the team in the present title series.

Although the champions were outhit in numerous games, the deliveries from the Lowell mound pulled the team through many a close squeeze. The only defeat of the series was handed the Lowell team by the Parchevard nine, runners-up in the series. Lowell retaliated, however, by winning two games from these opponents. The Parchies closed the season with four victories and three defeats, two of which were by the Lowells, the third by the Websters. The Green and White nine won only one game, losing seven.

Rain interrupted many of the games and postponed others.

Maurice Jones

CLUB BASEBALL

Last year's series was a somewhat longer one than those of previous years owing to an additional period of play, provided on Thursday afternoons by shortening the class periods. A better brand of baseball than had been exhibited during previous seasons was also the result of the lengthened series. Games were close and the scoring was low in the majority of cases.

A new diamond is the greatest stimulus during the 1930 season. Before the opening of play the field was rearranged. The location of the diamond was changed with a resultant lengthening of left field. In the games which have been played, a good class of ball has been exhibited. Each of the three teams is making a positive bid for the pennant.

The Parchevards, however, as a result of being undefeated in the first round of play are favored as the likely winners of the series. They easily defeated the Lowells and Websters.

The captains are: Weinberg, Lowell; McBride, Webster; and Heu, Parchevard.

CLUB TRACK

When four exhausted Parchevard quarter-milers slowly drew away from four equally tired Lowell runners in the mile relay last year, they also drew the track campionship away from the Lowells. The middle distance relay was the last and deciding event of the 1929 inter-club track meet, and gave the Parchies a two-point victory. The final scores were: Parchevard, 61; Lowell, 59; Webster, 16.

Despite the fact that three clubs were represented in the competition, the meet was a dual affair between the Parchevards and the Lowells. The Websters, although they took points away from each team, were not dangerous.

Fowler, Lowell star, was high-point man of the meet with 23 points; Durham, Parchevard, was second with 15 points. while Thatcher and Logan, Parchevard, and Hill, Lowell, tied for third with 12½ points. The three Parchevards mentioned won two-thirds of their team points. Thomas, Parchie captain, did not figure in the scoring.

CLUB CROSS COUNTRY

After pounding up and down rough hills and along a hard pavement, Robert Ogle, Parchevard captain, breasted the tape to win the annual Thanksgiving inter-club cross country race last fall. He was followed closely at the finish line by Lee McKee, Lowell captain, and by Merle Jackson, Webster captain. As the twelve other runners sprinted across the line, the club title swayed back and forth. The final count, however, showed that the Parchevards had won first place with 21 points, the Lowells second with 26 points, and Webster third with 31 points.

Although Ogle's winning time, 23 minutes and 5 seconds, was two minutes slower than the course record, the month and a half of exacting training required of the runners last fall was apparent at the finish. The complete exhaustion previously common at the finish was lacking in this race as the result of this required training.

Although rains had fallen several days before the race, the weather and track were in splendid shape for the annual event.

CLASS BASKETBALL

Emerging victorious from the six-game basketball series last fall, the senior quintet was declared class champions. In the three games played by the victors, their supremacy was not dangerously threatened, no team coming within ten points of them in the final score.

Both the junior and the senior team came down to the last game undefeated. With the title dependent on this one encounter, each team fought desperately; but the fourth year men drew ahead and won the game and the championship by a 28 to 13 count. In the consolation game the sophomores trounced the freshmen 37 to 13, to third place.

The closest game of the series was that between the second and third year men. However, the juniors won this encounter by an eight to five tally, and won the right to enter the finals.

John Blakely captained the championship team. Other captains were: Donald Feerer, juniors; Charles Campbell, sophomores; Burton Scheib, freshmen.

LUTZ

By effective swings of a big bat and by astute generalship, the diminutive "Mickey" McBride led his junior ball team to a class title last fall. "Mickey," who captained the juniors, was declared to be the most valuable man in the class series.

The juniors barely nosed out the sophomores and seniors in their first two encounters, but ended the season by easily overwhelming the freshmen. The first junior games were examples of class baseball, the scores being three to two and two to one, respectively. Only one round of games was played.

All of the teams were evenly matched, with the exception of the freshmen, who were only able to get five tallies to their opponents' 39 points. The game between the sophomores and seniors for second place was never played. George Young was senior captain, Harry Edwards led the sophomores and Robert Lutz was freshman captain.

The series was the first fall baseball to be attempted at Park.

WOMEN'S CLUB BASKETBALL

At the close of a one-sided basketball series of which the Eurodelphians were the winners, an innovation was made this year in women's basketball, namely, the selection of the eight most valuable players to form a mythical varsity squad. The honorary team was chosen at a meeting of the three team captains, and includes five of the champion Eurodelphians, two Lucernes, and one Calliopean. The women in the order of selection are: Elizabeth Broadbent and Rebecca Eads, both Eurodelphians; Margueritte Witt, Lucerne; Mildred Gorsuch, Helen Criswell, and Alice Oien, Eurodelphians; Ruby Hirni, Calliopean; Mary Bernhardt, Lucerne.

The election was based on ability, teamwork, spirit of fair play, and was intended as a distinction and as a stimulus for good, clean sportsmanship.

Betty Broadbent, by her fleetness and unusual ability, proved herself to be the outstanding player among the girls. Besides captaining the championship team, she made a total of 63 points during the one round of play.

Elizabeth Broadbent

WOMEN'S CLUB BASKETBALL

In the first game of the season, the Eurodelphian team, consisting of Elizabeth Broadbent, Mildred Gorsuch, Rebecca Eads, Helen Criswell, Alice Oien and Catherine McClusky, easily disposed of the Calliopeans in a 30 to 15 point game. Alice Schmidt and Martha Mae Marquis also played on the winning team. The second encounter was even an easier win for the champions than the previous one, piling up a 43 to 17 score against the Lucernes.

The Calliopeans won second place in the final game of the series by defeating the Lucernes, 24 to 18. Madeline Harding captained and led the Calliopean team in the attack, while Margueritte Witt was captain of the Lucernes.

Two of the three games were played as preliminaries to the men's games.

Considerable credit for the success of this year's series is due to Mildred Gorsuch, chairman of basketball for the Women's Athletic Association. She was also a member of the winning team.

Previous to April, 1927, no organization existed at Park for the recognition of high scholarship records. At that time, however, Alpha Delta, a local honorary scholastic fraternity, was founded to fill this need. The program of the society includes the sponsoring of an address by some outstanding scholar in the educational world sometime during the school year. Membership is restricted to the Phi Beta Kappa members on the faculty, to faculty members who were first honor graduates of Park, and to the ten per cent of the senior class who stand highest in scholarship during their entire college career.

HONORS COURSES

In order to meet the needs of gifted students, and in order to encourage such students to seek a higher standard of intellectual attainment under the personal guidance and stimulus of individual teachers, a system of Honors Courses was established at Park College in 1927. This year the privilege of doing honors work was extended to include members of the junior class. Eleven members of this year's senior class and five members of the junior class were selected as candidates for an Honors Degree. During the absence of Dean W. F. Sanders, Professor Ethel E. Lyon served as director of Honors Work.

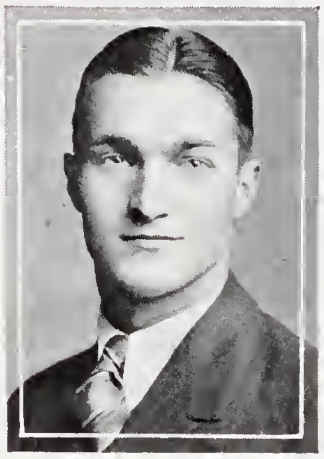
PI KAPPA DELTA



Russel Fowler

Pi Kappa Delta is a national honorary forensic fraternity which seeks to promote interest in intercollegiate debate and oratory. Its insignia is a gold key, and various orders and degrees are designated on this key by means of different jewels. It recognizes three types of forensics—debate, oratory and instruction. The order of oratory is shown by a ruby set in a circle, the order of debate by a pearl circle, and the order of instruction by an emerald circle. Within the orders there are various degrees of proficiency, indicated on the key by an eye set with a certain stone.

The local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta requires two years of work in debate or oratory for membership. Seven new members, who had fulfilled their requirements, were pledged to the fraternity in April.

This year six members of the organization went to the National Pi Kappa Delta Convention, held at Wichita, Kansas. This is held biennially, and has an attendance of over six hundred. Park College was represented at the contest by a men's debate team composed of Theron Ashby and Albert Tener, a woman's debate team composed of Wilma Evans and Lillian Scheib, and two orators, Webb Witmer and Enid Cole. Miss Cole placed third in the oratorical contest. Both debate teams were eliminated in the fifth round.

Evans, Young, Eager.
Todd, Foster, Witmer.

PI KAPPA DELTA

The added victories won at the Pi Kappa Delta convention enabled two young women of this chapter to receive a further award for proficiency. Miss Lillian Scheib won the ruby of honor, the third degree given, while Miss Wilma Evans was awarded the diamond of special distinction. She is the first woman in the local chapter to ever receive this highest award, the diamond having been won by only two other members of this organization—Russel Fowler and William Griffin.

In 1923 the Beta Chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatic fraternity, was established at Park College with the aim of promoting interest in the creation and presentation of drama. BETA PI THETA

In 1926 Theta Eta, the local chapter of Beta Pi Theta, a national honorary French fraternity, was organized at Park College. Its members are chosen from those students who have reached a full sophomore rating, are majoring or minoring in French, and are well above average in the work of the department. Through travel, study, conversation, and influence, its members seek to promote literary French in America. The yearly program of Beta Pi Theta has included the presentation of a program at McCormick Chapel and the offering of a prize of five dollars to the freshman doing the best work in French during the year.

KAPPA SIGMA PI

Wilbur Wilkinson

Kappa Sigma Pi is one of the few organizations on the campus whose membership is restricted to men. It was organized this year as an honorary chemistry fraternity. Its requirements are high, membership being limited to those who have a major in chemistry, or its equivalent. Meetings are held every two weeks to promote greater fellowship among students, and also to provide an opportunity to discuss topics concerning chemistry for which there would not be time in class. Plans for the year included an evening program on April fifth.

SOCIETIES

NATIONAL EURODELPHIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

Zeta Chapter

Georgia Miner

In 1924 the Aurora Club, organized since 1913, became the Zeta Chapter of the National Eurodelphian Literary Society. It has for its motto, "Row, not drift," and for its colors, the gold and brown of the sunflower, symbol of optimism.

The delicate odor of incense, oriental hangings, and little black chopsticks, formed the setting for the Eurodelphian formal party on October eighth. This was the first event of the rush season, and introduced the freshman girls into the mysteries of club rushing and club halls.

The "Euros" had several rush feeds. On one evening a group of girls met in Lawrence Hall, where an informal supper was served. At another time a group of gay hobos went to the Point; and on Hallowe'en a chicken dinner was served at the Y. W. C. A. Hut.

The Eurodelphians have had several excellent meetings this year. The new members of the society conducted one; at another time there were music and animated book reviews. The last meeting of the year will be the Senior Farewell, at which time the senior will and prophecy will be given.

de Bessonet, Mahaffy, Rivers, Pierce.

NATIONAL EURODELPHIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

Zeta Chapter

The Eurodelphian and Webster Literary Societies had charge of the first all-school party, which was held on St. Patrick's Day. The entire third floor of Mackay was changed into Erin, and the towns of O'Hara, O'Mara, and O'Reilly tribes were open to visitors. Each town turned out in full force to royally entertain its guests. In between two of the villages was a little wayside inn where Irish biddies served refreshments. It was only with difficulty that the town officials could persuade the travelers that it really was time to close up the towns for the night.

CALLIOPEAN LITERARY SOCIETY

Ann McCuish

The Calliopean Literary Society has been organized since 1896, when the three literary societies then existing were organized into four new ones. At that time they chose as their motto, "Practice, Perseverance, and Success"; as their colors, purple and gold; and as their flower, the Marcenial rose.

This year's activities of the club were opened with the Hill Feed, October 14, on Observatory Hill. All of the new girls of the campus were invited. A delicious plate supper was served, after which the Parchevards and Calliopeans gave a program, the chief feature of which was a little dramatization that is given each year. It opens on Olympus, with Apollo choosing his wife. Finally he selects Calliope, muse of epic poetry. Then she relates her visit to earth and to a certain high hill near the Missouri River. She says that she wishes to return. She does so, bearing gifts. These favors were distributed to all the freshman girls. The evening ended with the serenading of the different boys' dormitories.

After the Hill Feed, several rush parties were given. One of the most interesting was a breakfast at Falling Springs, with about forty of the freshman boys and girls attending.

Christner, Burkwall ,Shupe, Boorem.

CALLIOPEAN LITERARY SOCIETY

Mary Elizabeth Gloeckner

Sign-up Day was a great success in spite of the weather conditions. After marching down town with the Parchevards and climbing the Sunset hill to sing and yell, the crowd repaired to the gymnasium, where games were played and refreshments were served.

Meetings this year have been largely devoted to business, but at several, Calliopean songs, music and readings have been given. A one-act play was the feature of the spring party held jointly with the Parchevards.

The Calliopeans and Parchevards also had charge of the third all-school party, which was held in May, in the form of a lawn party.

LUCERNE LITERARY SOCIETY

Eleanor Whitelaw

"Scientia, Eloquentia, Amicitia" expresses the spirit of the Lucerne Club, which has been organized since 1896. At that time the Lowell Club was also organized, and for colors of the twin organizations blue and blue were chosen.

To open the rush season each year a formal tea is given, and this year a very charming one was held with Mrs. Oldroid, a former Lucerne, as the official hostess. At intervals the Lowell Orchestra played and a quartette of Lucerne girls sang club songs.

A rather unique type of feed was given during the rush season, which was known as the Relative Feed. All new girls who were either daughters or relatives of former Lucernes were invited to this affair. The largest rush feed was a barn party given in the gymnasium, which was very realistically decorated with straw and hay. The girls danced barn dances and played old-fashioned games, after which typical rural refreshments of doughnuts and cider were served.

Sign-up was a gala occasion. The Lowells and Lucernes serpentined through the streets, after which they went to Uncle Walter Wolfe's home, where the new members were introduced to him. In the afternoon a feed was held in the Y. W. C. A. Hut, at which time the new members were required to furnish the program. It was reported that some real talent in the way of singers and readers was discovered.

Green, Storm, Kimpton.

LUCERNE LITERARY SOCIETY

Esther Street

A musical program featured one of the best Lucerne meetings of the year. For this the Pauline Hawley Trianon Ensemble gave several selections, a group of Bulgarian folk songs were sung, as well as a number of popular melodies. A Farewell Feed is being planned, at which there will be music and readings, and the seniors will all give farewell talks.

To celebrate a basketball victory over the Websters, a joint meeting with the Lowells was held in February, and another joint meeting was held in March, at both of which games and refreshments were the chief features of the evening.

As the Narva goes to press, the Lucernes, with the Lowells, are planning an all-school party to be held sometime in April. Plans are not definite as yet, but it is stated that this may follow the theme of an Easter party.

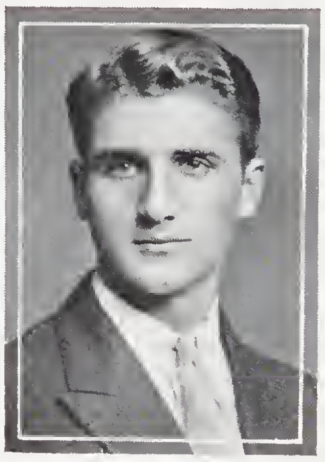
NATIONAL WEBSTER LITERARY SOCIETY



Lyall Smith

The Delta Chapter of the National Webster Literary Society is the outgrowth of the Orion Literary Society, which was organized in 1913. At this time there was a woman's club on the campus known as Aurora, with which Orion Club united to form the Orion-Aurora Club.

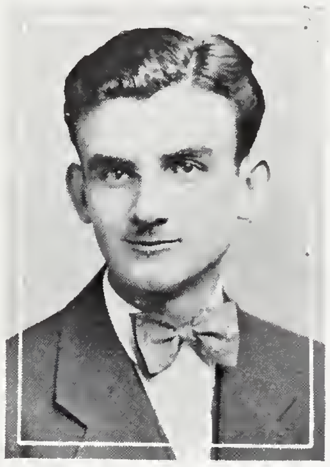
In 1923, after petitioning the president of the National Webster Literary Society, Orion Club became the Delta Chapter of that organization. The Webster colors are green and white, and the motto is "Conari Optima."

Since their origin, there has always been a great deal of rivalry between the different men's clubs. This is especially true at the beginning of the year when new members are about to be pledged. The Webster open-house for new men was held on the evening of October 29. Lawrence Hall was transformed into the "Webster Cabaret." Cook and Esch, as co-proprietors of the cabaret, superintended the gaities of the evening. Refreshments were served by members of the sister club, the Eurodelphians.

The Websters were very successful on sign-up day, claiming thirty-eight of the eighty-eight new men on the campus. The sign-up feed, in honor of the event, was held out in Parkville at the Community House.

Aldridge, Lowe, Lock.

NATIONAL WEBSTER LITERARY SOCIETY



Harry Cook

The Websters, in conjunction with the Eurodelphians, sponsored the first all-school party held on March 17. In honor of the date, the event was held in the form of a St. Patrick's Party.

Inasmuch as Park College does not have intercollegiate athletics, the rivalry among the clubs is very high in this particular activity. This year, although the Webster basketball team, captained by Kenneth Lentz, met each of their two rivals three times, the tournament ended in a triple tie.

As the Narva goes to press, the Webster baseball team, lead by Bernon McBride, and the track team, captained by Merle Jackson, are preparing for the spring contests.

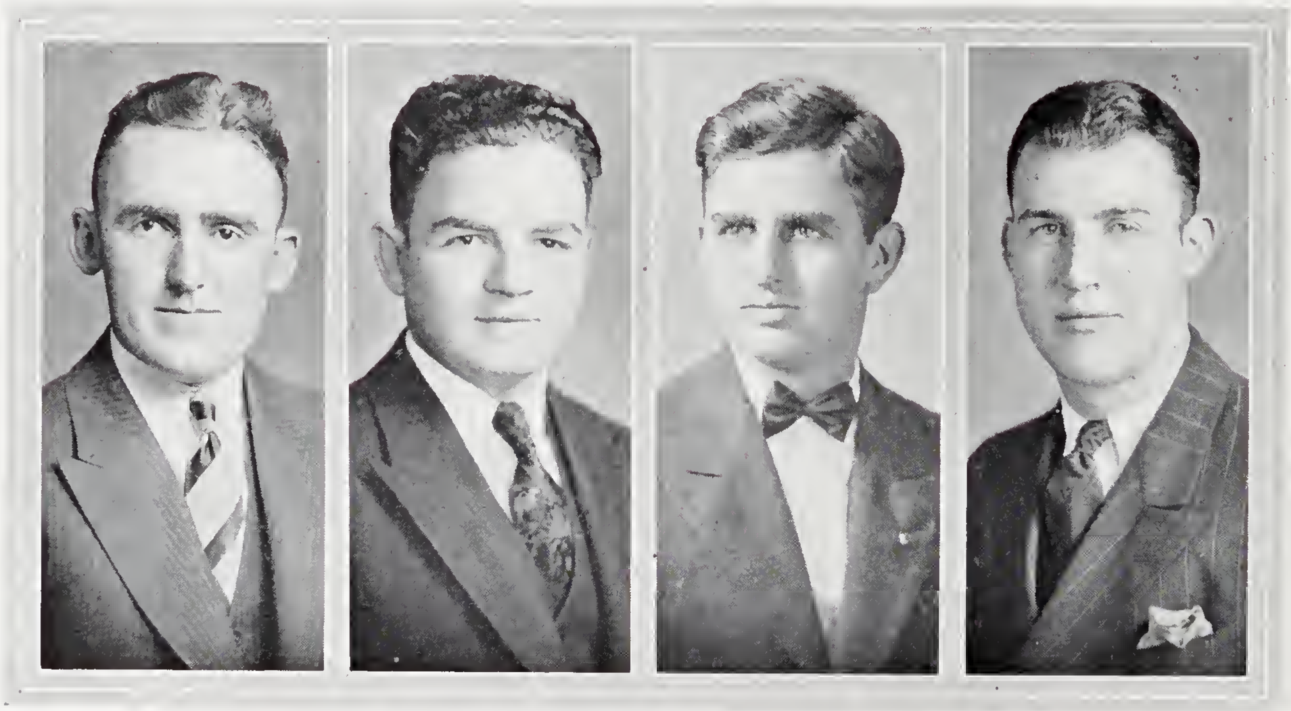
PARCHEVARD LITERARY SOCIETY

Thomas Ireland

The Parchevard Literary Society is one of the oldest literary societies on the campus, having been organized since 1896. Previous to this date the literary societies were composed of both men and women, but in the newly organized societies the men and women were separated. However, the founders of the new club did not wish to give up old traditions and names altogether, so they took the name of Parchevard, derived from the old names, Park, Cheever and Bullard Literary Societies. They allied themselves with the Calliopeans as their sister society, taking as their motto, "Practice, Perseverance, and Success," and as their joint colors, purple and gold. The two clubs chose Park Hall as their meeting place.

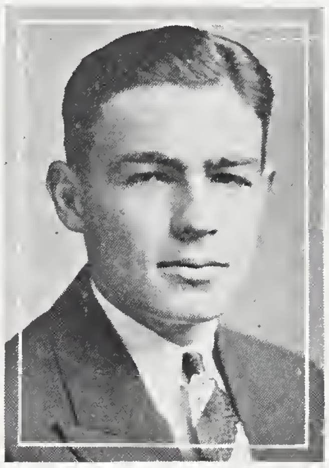
Thomas Ireland, as president of the "Parchies," welcomed the new men of the campus at the Parchevard open meeting held on October 26. The Parchevards, assisted by the Calliopeans, provided a very pleasant evening's program, featuring music, plays, readings and refreshments.

On Sign-Up Day, October 28, twenty-one of the new men indicated that they wished to join the Parchevard's ranks by accepting the purple and gold emblem.



Thomas, Brown, Mathews, Bartlett.

PARCHEVARD LITERARY SOCIETY



JOHN BLAKELY

For a number of years the Parchevards have prided themselves on their superiority in athletics. They further proved this to be a fact by defeating the Lowells and the Websters in the cross-country race held on Monday, November 25. Paul Keen, Osgood Neilsen and Fred Morris, captained by Robert Ogle, were the members of the winning team.

Although the Purple and Gold had dominated the basketball court for several seasons, the team, with John Blakely as captain, was forced to share the honors this year with the Lowells and the Websters. Dick Heu and Harry Turner are the captains of the Parchevard baseball and track teams, respectively.

LOWELL LITERARY SOCIETY

George Young

Lowell Club was organized on January 10, 1896, following the dissolution of the Park, Cheever and Bullard societies. The Lowells selected as the motto of their newly organized club, "D-I-G," and as their meeting place, Cheever Hall. A few weeks after its organization, Lowell Club united with its present sister club, Lucerne, and the combined clubs selected blue and blue for the colors of the L. L. C.'s.

The Lowells gave the first party for the new men this year, the feature of which was the "Blue and Blue Review," a clever musical skit. The new men found the antics of the chorus girls to be especially amusing.

On sign-up day the Lowells added twenty-nine of the new men to their ranks. After the pledges had accepted the blue and blue, the new and old members, together with the Lucernes and their pledges, paraded down town where the new members were introduced to "Uncle Walter" Wolfe, one of Lowell-Lucerne's staunchest supporters. The afternoon was spent informally at the Y. W. C. A. Hut, where games and hot-dogs played an important part in the celebration.

The Lowells have always prided themselves on the musical talent of their members. Throughout the past year this has often found an outlet in many pleasing serenades.

Hunzeker, Hrvat, Ford, DeHaven.

LOWELL LITERARY SOCIETY

Milton Klein

The Lowells and Lucernes sponsored the second all-school party given on April 14. Max Coleman and Helen Burns were the co-chairmen who were responsible for the success of this attractive lawn-festival.

Nor have the activities of the club been limited entirely to social functions. The Lowell cross-country team, captained by Lee McKee, placed second in the Thanksgiving cross-country race. The men's basketball team, under the leadership of John Whitelaw, succeeded in defeating the Websters three times, but were forced to bow to the Parchevards a like number of times. Max Coleman and Max Weinberg were chosen to captain the track and baseball teams.

RELIGIOUS

Y. W. C. A

The local branch of the Y. W. C. A. was founded in 1916. The executive body, which sponsored the work of the association on the campus, is composed of a cabinet of fifteen young women. The work of the organization is accomplished through committees, among which are: The world citizenship committee, social service committee, recreational committee, and membership committee.

The recreational committee has charge of the meeting held the third Thursday of every month, and in connection with the membership committee, took charge of the freshman reception and the faculty reception. The association sponsored a very successful operetta, "Pickles," under the direction of Miss Ruth Snyder. The young women were also responsible for the attractive May Fete and the Senior Farewell Party.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. is an organization of the young men of the campus, with the aim of promoting Christian fellowship and character. The program of the organization has included welfare work in Kansas City, sponsoring of boys' work in Parkville, and the organization of Sunday schools in the vicinity. During the summer the cabinet members wrote to all new men students, and in the fall assisted the Y. W. C. A. in the Freshman Reception.

Meetings of the Y. M. C. A. are held twice a month. Several prominent speakers from Kansas City have addressed the group during the year. The executive group, which directs the work of the association, is composed of a cabinet of nine young men.

MINISTERIAL GROUP

The ministerial group is a local organization of all those who are preparing for the ministry, or work in religious education. Its aim is to secure Christian fellowship and inspiration, and to be of what service it can in the religious life of the campus and vicinity. Devotional meetings are held every Sunday morning, and a business meeting is held monthly at which prominent speakers talk on inspirational topics, after which there is occasionally a social hour.

This year the group is especially sponsoring deputations to Kansas City. Members of the Association have been in charge of five evening services in the city, in addition to conducting a chapel and evening service here on the campus.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER BAND

The Student Volunteer Band is one of the oldest groups on the campus, having been in existence since 1886, with Professor and Mrs. A. L. Wolfe as their sponsors. This is an organization of those who intend to spend their lives on the foreign field, or who are interested in mission work.

Short meetings are held every Sunday night after church. Speakers from the Indian tribes of North America, and missionaries from China and Korea, have spoken at various meetings of the year. Foreign students, and those interested in particular countries, have conducted some very interesting meetings. On April 27th the group conducted the evening church service, presenting a play concerning the leper problem, entitled "Why Not the Nine?" Two feeds and a party were enjoyed during the year.

Two of the last year's group are now on the foreign field. They are Miss Katherine Kearns, at Cameroun, West Africa, and Hilda Peterson, at Baugkak, Siam.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

The College Christian Endeavor holds its meetings every Sunday evening at six-thirty. Students have entire charge, and a wide variety of meetings have been held this year. Among the most successful were a musical meeting, a Biblical baseball contest, and discussion meetings on current topics. This year the society has pursued the policy of having a boy and a girl alternate for leaders of the meetings.

Along missionary lines the society has also been quite active, having two outside speakers, and several meetings conducted by the foreign students of the school. In the fall a barn party was given, and later a very successful Christmas party was held. As The Narva goes to press, a spring party is being planned, and also the society is expecting to conduct a program for the Negro Church of the community

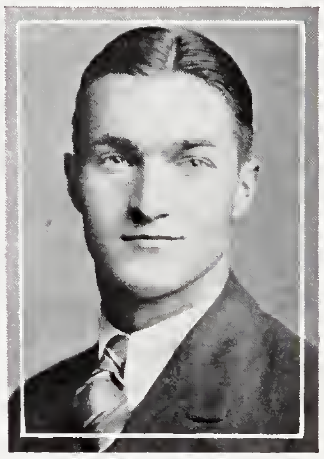
GENERAL

STUDENT BODY ORGANIZATION



Russel Fowler

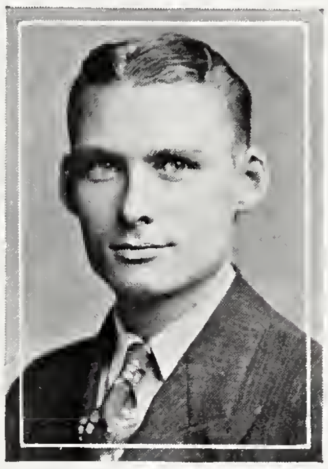
The student body of Park College was organized in order to coordinate and promote various student activities, and for the solution of problems concerning the student body. The president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer are elected from the student body at large. These four officers, with representatives from the forensic council, the athletic association, the Stylus, the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., and a representative of each of the four college classes, comprise the membership of the student council. This council, or executive committee, was established for the purpose of cooperating with the administration in the enforcement of the general regulations and the promotion of the interests of the college.

This year's program, under the leadership of Russel Fowler, has included the welcoming of new students, as well as the sponsoring of the sophomore committee for the enforcement of freshman rules. Mr. Fowler also inaugurated the policy of having different dormitories be responsible for the programs at student body meetings instead of the college classes.

During the second semester the general regulations governing the social life of the campus were extended through the efforts of the student council, and the faculty advisory committee.

McEwen, Hill, Whitelaw, Smith.
Coleman, Bee, Medill, Bonacker.

STUDENT BODY ORGANIZATION



William Overhulser

The members of the student council, under the leadership of William Overhulser, were also responsible for the inauguration of the policy of having a college social gathering each month. The Webster-Eurodelphian literary societies were the first to entertain with a St. Patrick's party on March 17.

A new women's pep committee was organized this spring under the name of the Kit-Kat Society, or women's auxiliary of the Cu Cu Club. They made their debut with a dramatic interpretation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

ROY V. MAGERS HISTORY CLUB

The Roy V. Magers History Club has the two-fold aim of creating an interest in history and keeping in touch with contemporary world events. Membership in this club is limited to history majors or minors.

Two meetings are held a month, one of which deals with purely historical subjects, while the second is concerned with international relations and current events. The club has a special international relations committee to take charge of these meetings, which are thrown open to all the students and faculty members of the college. It is their aim to secure outside speakers who are acquainted with world affairs, and through their efforts Burris Jenkins talked in chapel on Russia, and C. Douglas Booth, a student of Balkan history, gave a talk on Central Europe at an evening meeting. At another meeting Frank George Nelson told of his experiences in Europe this year. A rather unusual meeting was held the first of the year, when the history of American patriotic songs was discussed.

MATTOON MATHEMATICS CLUB

In 1922 the Mattoon Mathematics Club was organized through the efforts of Professor R. A. Wells, head of the department, to give students majoring or minoring in mathematics an opportunity to discuss subjects of interest which it would be impossible to take up in class through lack of time. Meetings are held every two weeks, at which a student chairman presides. This year, besides discussing topics related to mathematics, biographies of great mathematicians of antiquity have been given. A banquet was the chief social function of the year. Miss Ora Gates of the mathematics department is the sponsor of the club.

WAKEFIELD SCIENCE CLUB

The purpose of the Wakefield Science Club is to secure a correlation of the different sciences, i. e., Astronomy, Biology, Chemistry, and Home Economics, so that those interested in one department may learn something of the other sciences taught on the campus. Bi-monthly meetings are held at which lectures by professors, and papers by students, are given.

This year's chief feature was the annual banquet held at Thompson Commons, the evening of February 17, after which a scientific film entitled "The Culture of Living Tissues" was shown at McCormick Chapel. Dr. M. C. Findlay is sponsor for the club.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

The Chemistry Club was organized this year with the purpose of arousing greater interest in chemistry and providing an opportunity for chemistry students to meet and talk about topics of interest.

While the club has not yet been in existence quite a year, it has already accomplished several of its objectives. At several of the meetings rather clever games involving chemical terms have been played. The club has published a little paper called the Parkion, which prints extracts from other chemical papers, chemical news, and articles on chemistry.

As The Narva goes to press the club is planning to conduct a chapel program in the near future. Dr. P. Y. Jackson is sponsor for the club.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

Le Cercle Francais was founded in 1921 by Dean Sanders and Miss Charlotte Chantrelle, of the Modern Language Department. It seeks to give French students practice in French conversation, and to promote interest in French music, literature and drama.

Meetings are held once a month. At New Year's the students enjoyed a party which featured French games. One of the most successful meetings was a joint meeting held with Beta Pi Theta, the honorary French fraternity. The Beta Pi Theta members gave two short French plays, "Chez une Modiste" and "La Surprise d'Isidore," while the club members acted as audience and judges. This club is open to all students of French. Miss Miriam E. Wilson is its sponsor.

EL CLUB CERVANTES

El Club Cervantes was founded in 1927 with the purpose of providing practice in the Spanish language, as well as making its members more familiar with the customs, literature and music of Spanish speaking countries.

Those who show ability in oral or written Spanish are admitted to the club. Monthly meetings are held which are conducted entirely in Spanish. Several Spanish plays have been given, and many novel Spanish games have been played at the meetings this year.

As The Narva goes to press, the officers of the club are planning a banquet to be held in April. This is an annual event celebrating the founding of the club.

FLIPPANCY

ELEGY WRITTEN IN THE PARK COLLEGE COMMONS

The antique clock now strikes the dinner hour,
And to the Commons students wend their way;
Some from the arduous toils of family work,
Some from the creaking rooms of old Mackay.

Now fades the glimmering landscape on the sight,
And all the air a solemn stillness holds,
Save when a walking-stick drops in its flight,
Upon a student's clothes in Parkville wolds.

Now the students dash madly for the stairs,
And up them swiftly climbs the hungry crowd,
Sunset men gain possession of the top
And hurl among the rest derisions loud.

Can storied urn or animated bust
Back to its mansion call the fleeting breath?
Can voice of Moore silence the hungry mob
Clamb'ring for food which means their life or death?

The bell has rung—the rush has now begun,
A dash is made for all the vacant chairs.
Then silence falls within the crowded walls
While someone gives the usual evening prayer.

Then the tardy students straggle in the hall
And eagerly the empty chairs do seek.
The waitresses bring on the usual food.
To say the least the portions are unique.

Full many a tiny piece of toughened meat
The dark brown depth of thickened gravy bears;
Full many a lonely bean must swim unseen
Beneath the soup, all singly—not in pairs.

One morn I wandered o'er the sloping hills
Of Parkville, after eating half a scone.
I found an old obscure, half-sunken grave,
And this engraved upon the ponderous stone:

THE EPITAPH

"Here rests his head upon the lap of earth
A youth, to fortune and to fame unknown;
Fair science frowned not on his humble birth,
But pangs of hunger marked him for her own."

PARK COLLEGE STUDENTS

"FOR THIRTY SECONDS I HELD THEM SPELLBOUND"

This Course Will Help You As It Has Helped Bill Daeschner

"For years I suffered because of lack of platform poise. Whenever I appeared before an audience I would always flounder and stutter; soon I became the laughingstock of the community. However, three days after reading your booklet, "How to Attain Perfect Platform Presence" I addressed the student body at Park College. Calmly I walked on the platform, remained silent thirty seconds before speaking. For thirty seconds I held them spellbound — then they laughed out loud."

—William Daeschner

FT. MADISON WALL FLOWER BECOMES A SOCIAL LION

Don't Be A Weakling All Your Life
How Do You Shape Up?

Poor McNeel. He just lived on. A poor wornout imitation of a boy, doing his level best to get on in the world. From early childhood he had been a weakling. At thirteen he presented a sorry spectacle—thin as a rail, weak, and sickly looking. Then one day he happened to discover our ad in the "Western Story" magazine and sent us a letter asking for our advice. We sent him our 64 page booklet Muscular Development. Then what a marvelous change occurred! Those great square shoulders! That pair of huge, lithe arms! Those firm, shapely legs! Yes, sir. They are his, and they are his to stay!

WHO'S THE POPULAR BOY?

That's What They Say

Everybody likes the golden notes of my pupil

Read the Testamonial of Charles Englehart

"Before taking your easy lessons, I couldn't play a piece. Now I can play Discord and many other musical selections. I have actually become a genius since taking your course. I wouldn't take $1000 for my financial and social gain through your easy lessons.

Chick Englehart

WHO MADE GOOD

RUNYAN SAYS IT WITH WORDS

"I have always had one ambition in life—to be popular with the women. I had seen other boys around me who were very popular with the girls and I also desired to be popular. The other boys possessed the ability of manufacturing witty dialogue, but my jokes and quibbles always failed. The other boys could write clever poetry and letters but my notes though clever were so hard to get across. Then one day I discovered your advertisement in the True Romance magazine. I answered your advertisement. Today I am noted for my witty dialogue and clever poetry and letters. The women are simply wild about me. They follow me everywhere. They flock about me.

A CHALLENGE TO THE YOUTH OF AMERICA

Learn Now and Avoid Any Future Embarrassment

"A box of cigars says you don't dare dance with her." That was the challenge that was flung at me. "All right, I accept!" I answered hotly and started across the floor before I had regained my senses. I had never danced in my life but it was too late now to retreat. Paralyzed with fright, I timidly approached a girl and stammered my request. She immediately accepted and then we were swallowed up by the throng. Everything seemed to go wrong from the first. Something had happened to the orchestra. The rhythm of the music was not in time with the rhythm of my feet. My feet rose up and down but their actions was accompanied by howls of pain. It was a trying ordeal. Finally my partner suggested that we sit out the rest of the dance. She told me I was not the best dancer in the world and she suggested I take your lessons. Today I am a wonderful dancer and as welcome as the flowers in May."

—Eddie Hunzeker

DO YOU HAVE A STRONG MAGNETIC PERSONALITY?

Look What My Course Has Done For One Of My Pupils

READ HIS TESTAMONIAL

My dear Mr. Clammy:

I am so deeply enthused over your wonderful course that I cannot express my appreciation in words. I cannot begin to tell you how your marvelous booklet has helped to acquire a magnetic personality. I have made a thousand new friends since taking your course—the girls are crazy about me. Everybody is attracted by my striking personality."

Yours very truly,

Robert Ogle, Park College's star sprinter, again finishes first in cross-country after a hectic struggle against adverse weather and rough topography. Showing untiring energy, he sets a steady pace and manages to keep ahead of his rivals during most of the race.

As usual, the Igloo reporter was on the job ready to record the first words that came from his lips.

"I owe it all to UNIQUE PRUNES that I ate at the Park College Commons. Day by day I watched the other cross-country men refuse to eat these famous prunes, but I remained silent. I knew their intrinsic value; I realized their remarkable nutritious qualities. I perceived that in that little black object were the vitamins necessary to every good track man. So I ate UNIQUE PRUNES in silence, realizing that I was growing stronger physically, and by the time of the race I could easily outdistance my swiftest rival."

THE CONFIDANT

Dear Confidant: I am a young girl attending Park College. The first two or three months that I was here I was very happy, since then I have been feeling very despondent. Although there are always several boys rushing me, I wish to be more popular. I want to have the entire student body at my feet. I want to be the life of all of the all-school parties. What can I do to become popular?

Betty.

Betty: Your problem is one that is continually confronting the youth of all ages. What will make you popular in one locality, will not in another. Since you are attending Park College, I advise you to become a good rook and spoof player. Excel at anagrams. Then you will be the life of every party.

Dear Confidant: I have a radio in my room at Herr House and I listen to it every night. There is one announcer whose voice is especially pleasing. I love to sit and listen to his golden, mellow voice. Unfortunately, he is the announcer for the program sponsored by one of the well-known cigarette companies. Now, smoking is prohibited at my college. I want to hear this man's voice, but I am afraid my housemother will make me shut off the radio or forbid me to have one in my room. What shall I do?

Faint-Heart.

P. S.—He has such a lovely voice.

The confidant is stumped. Can any of the readers of this column suggest a method to help Faint-Heart out of her dilemna?

Dear Confidant: Since the beginning of this year when several new boys started working in the kitchen, I have been troubled with pests. They get in all the food and carry much of it from the Commons. They seem to be everywhere. What can I do to get rid of them?

G. W.

G. W.: Why don't you try some sodium fluoride for the little bugs in your kitchen. You can buy it at any drug store.

Dear Confidant: I am very fond of a certain Park College student whose name I do not care to reveal. I have done everything to attract his attention. I have tried being silent and coy, and I have also tried to encourage him. But he is indifferent. Have I used the wrong tactics? Should I continue being shy and coy, or should I talk to him on every occasion? Should I encourage him by words? Should I make every word count?

Just An Old-Fashioned Song.

Old-Fashioned Song: Watch this column next week for your answer.

Sally: It is very hard to break into vaudeville. It would be wiser to stick to what you have.

Warren C.: If you wish to trace your ancestry write the genealogy department of the Congressional Library.

John S.: After reading the poems which you submitted, I would suggest that you do not publish them.

ELECTRICANA

Are Ever Widening

Daily, Electricana grows . . . daily it assumes greater proportions . . . this vast kingdom of comfort created by electricity.

It numbers among its subjects countless women whom electric servants have released forever from household drudgery . . . women who rejoice in the freedom that electric ranges, electric vacuum cleaners—electric household appliances of every sort—have made possible for them.

Within its borders are homes which—through the magic of electric service—have been made a hundredfold more attractive . . . homes which now know the charm of lovely lighting fixtures, the convenient comfort of electric heat, the permanent health protection furnished by electric refrigeration . . .

Electricity can serve you as it is serving these others . . . visit your own power and light company and find how you can utilize electric service to the full for greater home comfort.

Donald Davis Herr Memorial

Donald Davis Herr Memorial Hall is the gift of Reverend Arthur Herr and Misses Mabel, Jessie and Jane Herr, in memory of their brother, Donald Davis Herr, who lost his life in the Japanese earthquakes. It is built in English style and retains all the gracefulness of that style of architecture. This building houses one hundred and four women of Park College. Combining conservation of space with the artistic, this dormitory presents the most modern type of college equipment.

Thompson Commons, the gift of Mr. A. O. Thompson in memory of his son, Philip Bruce Thompson, is so situated that it looks out over a wooded valley to the Missouri River, providing a view that is an inspiration. This generous gift, also of the English type of architecture, has done much to simplify the problem of feeding hungry students at Park.

Both of these buildings were constructed by Mr. Herman Fox of Kansas City, who has donated this space in the advertising section, not through any selfish motive, but as an evidence of his good will toward Park College, and his belief in its student activities.
